DETAILED ACTION

Examiner acknowledges receipt of amendment C filed 09/30/02. Claims 1-6 and 10-15 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The rejection of claims 7-16 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention is withdrawn because claims 7-9 and 6 are deleted and claim 15 has been amended to overcome the use claim rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. Claims 1-5 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jones et al. (WO 96/03967).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claims 6-15 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jones et al. (WO 96/03967). Amendment to claim 15 necessitates including it in this rejection.

Applicants state that the arguments presented for the rejections under 35 USC 102 is the same for the rejection under 35 USC 103. Thus the arguments are summarized below.

Applicants argue:

a) That Jones does not disclose the use of polyacrylamide polymer as a thickening agent and that there is no teaching or motivation in Jones to use polyacrylamide as a polymeric thickening agent.

Art Unit: 1615

- b) That the polyacrylamide polymers of the present invention are water dispersible.
- and c) The polyacrylamide polymers synthesized by reverse phase emulsion polymerization are predispersed in water immiscible solvent to facilitate dispersibility.
- d) Jones composition is for hair and not for skin.

4. Applicant's arguments filed 09/30/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the statement that Jones does not teach polyacrylamide as a thickening agent, it is respectfully noted that in claim 1, polyacrylamide is not recited as a thickening agent; and even if that recitation is made, future intended use is not critical in a composition claim.

In response to the statement that the polymers of the present invention are water dispersible and are prepared by reverse phase emulsion polymerization, it is noted that applicants' argument is directed to limitations that are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Secondly, in a composition claim, the property of that composition is not critical since that property would be inherent and is not important how the composition is made in a composition claim.

The argument that Jones' composition is for hair and not skin is arguing for the intended use of a composition. Jones does not exclude hair on the skin neither does the claimed invention exclude hair on the scalp.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1615

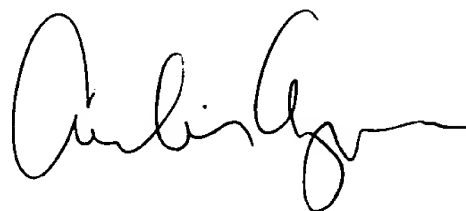

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
